A small guide to a helpful reminder

FOR PARENTS AND TEACHERS | K-6 REFERENCE PACKS

Choose one useful sheet

Start with the idea the student is working on today. Grade bands are suggestions, not limits. A familiar reference from an earlier grade can still help.

Look at an example together

Point to one heading and read its worked example. Ask the student to explain the first step in their own words. You can model a step before asking them to try.

Try one similar question

Use a small amount of practice. Let the student look back at the sheet instead of trying to remember everything at once. A drawing, objects, or a number line can help too.

Check, then choose the next step

Compare the work with the reminder. Talk about which step helped. Keep the sheet nearby, or revisit it another day. Follow the teacher's directions about references during assessments.

Print only what you need

The first page of each pack is this guide. The remaining pages are one-page references selected for that grade. Use the PDF print dialog to choose individual pages. Print at 100% on US Letter, or Fit on A4.
